This letter is to confirm the collaboration between the ARISE (United States of America) and the STEP programme (Singapore),

ARISE is a non-profit organization, created in 1986, that provides a rich assortment of time tested, evidence based life skills curricula for at-risk youth. They also offer staff training that enhances the effectiveness of those who care for troubled youth and adolescents. They have created programs that focus on priceless advice parents and grandparents once shared as families sat around the kitchen table at the end of the day.

The STEP programme is a three month plan that encompasses various programmes to discourage youths from indulging in gang activities. It provides youths at risk of gang involvement with alternate avenues to divert their attention, along with working with parents to get youths on the right path.
